I owe a deep debt of gratitude to Dr. A. Bopegamage of the Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics, who was kind enough to agree to be my guide, for his unstinting patience in going through this thesis and offering unsparing critical comments and valuable suggestions. Without his exacting scholarship this research would indeed not have been possible.

I am grateful to my father Shri T.S. Krishnamurthi who introduced me to the leading members of the Chettiar community in industry, banking and the professions, and who, with his lifetime association with the Chettiar insurance enterprise in India and Burma, gave me invaluable guidance on the Chettiar agency system of banking. It would not be an exaggeration to say that he was my main inspiration in this study.

My thanks are due to all my Chettiar respondents for the excellent co-operation I received from them. I would in particular like to mention the leading Chettiar historian and journalist 'Somalay' (Shri S.M. Lakshmanan Chettiar) who allowed me to use his material, Mrs. Meena Muthiah (daughter-in-law of Rajah Sir Muthiah Chettiar) who introduced me to the Chettiar ladies, Shri S.P. Kasi (L.I.C. Development Officer) who helped me to contact a number of Chettiar respondents in Madurai, Nagarathar Sangam in Madras and Madurai who made their literature available to me for collecting information on the Chettiar Community Census, the late Shri Karumuthu Thiagaraja Chettiar and his sons the late Shri T. Sundaram Chettiar and late Shri T. Manickavasaga Chettiar who gave me all the help I wanted before their sad demise. To all of them and to all others who helped me in this study, I am most grateful.
