ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to take this opportunity of expressing my gratefulness to my guide Prof. Sadasiba Pradhan, Head, P.G. Department of Ancient Indian History, Culture and Archaeology, Utkal University, for his guidance, encouragement and keen interest to complete this piece of work. He also supported me with necessary and relevant data related to my research for which I am equally indebted to him.

I wish to express my deep sense of gratitude to Dilip Padhy VU2DPI and Dr. S. Acharya, Reader in the Dept. of A.I.H.C.A, Utkal University for their encouragements and support during my research work.

I am thankful to Mr. Dibishada Brajasundar Garnayak who helped me during my field work in the deep forests and Mao infested areas of Orissa.

I express my sincere gratitude to all the teachers of the P.G. Dept. of History, Sambalpur University for their timely help. Also I am thankful to all the non-teaching staff of the Department for their encouragement.

I am also obliged to the authorities of the Sambalpur University for their timely help.

I am very much grateful to the authorities of ICHR, New Delhi, for granting me financial support to complete my Ph.D. research work.

I am very much grateful to Mrs. Bhagabati Pradhan, wife of Prof. S. Pradhan and family members for their good wishes and encouragement in completing the task.

I am thankful to Khetra, Binod and Udhaba for their help and cooperation in providing me accommodation during my stay in Vani Vihar.
I am also thankful to Ashish Pradhan (Bulu dada), and Bhabani Shankar Barik (Dhani) for photography and computing the data.

I am thankful to my friends for their moral support and good wishes.

I am indebted to my father Mahadev Barik, mother Suryakanti Barik, brother Binayak Barik and sister Nirupama Barik for their help and encouragement during the progress of the work.
