Acknowledgements

Firstly, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my Guide Dr. Choodamani Nandagopal, whose guidance and unwavering commitment over years has helped create an environment where research flourish, allowing student experiences to be rich and rewarding. It gives me an opportunity to thank her for the encouragement and belief in my work. Her concrete inputs on improving my rough formulations helped tremendously in clarifying my basic concepts.

I am grateful to the funding source Indian Council of Historical Research for JRF fellowship that allowed me to pursue my PhD without any financial hindrance. I wish to express my sincere thanks to Dr. S. K. Aruni, Member Secretary (Incharge), for drawing my attention to the study of ports. Advice and guidance drawn from the conversation with him gave me an understanding into the subject.

I am thankful to Dr. Chenraj Roychand, Chairman Jain Group of Institutions, Dr. N. Sundararajan, Vice Chancellor, Jain University, for giving me the opportunity to pursue my research. I have great pleasure in expressing my gratitude to Dr. Sandeep Shastri, Pro Vice Chancellor of Jain University who taught us the research methodology. Understanding of which was not possible for me without you Sir. Your valuable guidance and scholarly inputs remained a source of inspiration.

I am particularly grateful to express my indebtedness to Dr. Mythili P. Rao for her support and professionalism. Thanks are also due to Dr. Saumya Manjunath for her unending academic and non-academic help. I would like to thank my fellow doctoral students specially Vidya Kumari, S and L.K. Akila for their feedback and cooperation.

I wish to thank Prof. Himanshu Prabha Ray for her valuable guidance in maritime history. Her recommendations and important reading list has helped greatly in my study. I am grateful to her for sharing valuable articles through Academia. edu, which were not available to me in Bangalore libraries.
Many thanks to Keremane Shivananda Hegde for extending his warm hospitality and friendship. A discussion regarding important sites of Honnavar provided deep insight into the culture of that region. I am thankful to him for inviting me to watch the live performance of Yakshagana and its preparation.

I am grateful to Dr. A.V. Navada, of Karnataka Theological Research Institute, for introducing me to several eminent scholars in my field. I got introduced to B. Appanna Hegde, trustee of Mahalingeshwara temple and M. Chandraprabha Hegde, Rtd. Principal of Sharda College, Basrur, for guiding me on the history of Basrur and making it possible for me to look at the important sites of Basrur. I recall with gratitude the prompt help given to me by Prof. K. M. Lokesh of Mangalore University. His valuable advice and suggestions have helped greatly in my research.

I am deeply grateful to Mahesh Kini for taking sincere efforts in arranging permissions and showing all the important sites of Basrur. His historical perspective gave some pointers which I have reliably used in my study.

Dr. Gursharan Varandani, Retd. Professor and Dean Faculty of Law, Kurukshetra University, who took an interest in my work and been most generous in guiding me.

I cannot forget the contribution of ICHR Bangalore and Mythic society library staffs for providing necessary research materials. In consulting the original source materials, I have received help from the Archeological Survey of India Library Bangalore and Karnataka Theological Library of Mangalore, National Archive and Maritime Gallery of National Museum, Delhi. I express heartfelt thanks to the authorities and staffs of these libraries. I also like to mention www.archive.org for making rarest books and accounts available through internet that helped me tremendously.

I thankfully acknowledge the help and assistance I received from Kshama Bhat, Shwetha Subramanya and Gururaj Derebai in translating Kannada text.

I also appreciate the encouragement extended by my father in law, Akhilesh Kumar Shrivastava, who curiously watched the progress at every step of thesis development. Without his concern and regular guidance this thesis could never have been completed on time.
My sister, Jyoti Mohan, who generously supported me in my research journey by taking care of my kids every time when I visited Delhi for my research. I owe a special debt to her selfless love and affection that made me to use my time in Delhi to visit Archives and libraries.

I also show a sense of gratitude to my father and all my family members especially my husband Animesh Shrivastava for support whenever was required. His encouragement and hours of help have been one of the major factors in realization of this thesis.

My sincere thanks to my close friends Shobhana Sinha and Jaya Jose for their support and progressive ideas. To my wonderful group of friends whose lasting friendships have sustained me to keep working and complete the thesis.

And last but not the least, Tia and Neel, the two delightful distractions, for teaching me the very first and foremost lesson of research that is ‘Patience’.

Shilpi Shrivastava