ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I reverently thank the Vice Chancellor and the authorities of Gandhigram Rural University-Deemed University for providing admission as Full Time Scholar for Ph.D programme and extending all the facilities.

I wish to place on record of my heartfelt gratitude and sincere appreciation to my research supervisor Dr. L. RAJA, Professor and Head, Department of Lifelong Learning and Extension, Gandhigram Rural Institute-Deemed University, Gandhigram for his valuable guidance, constant encouragement and positive support rendered throughout the course work. I whole heartedly recall his timely help and concern bestowed on me in initiating, undertaking and completing the study programme.

Further I would like to express my profound gratitude to Dr. T. T. Renganathan, Professor, Faculty of Agriculture and Animal Husbandry, Gandhigram Rural Institute-Deemed University, Gandhigram served as joint supervisor for his eminent guidance, valuable suggestions and enlightening ideas, which contributed a lot in bringing out this thesis.

I profoundly express my sincere thanks to my Doctoral Committee Member Dr. B.Thiagarajan, Professor, Department of Social Sciences, Anbil Dharmalingam Agriculture College and Research Institute (TNAU), Thiruchirapalli for his technical guidance, creative suggestions, persistent encouragement which propelled me all along to complete this task with all possible perfection.

I wish to sincerely thank the respectful scientists of Allium group Dr. S.R. Bhone, Shri.U.B. Pandey and Shri. Anil. B.Chougule for their constructive and fruitful ideas and constant encouragement throughout the study and also I thank Dr. R. Veera Gowda, Principal Scientist, Division of Vegetable Crop, IIHR, Bangalore for sparing me the literatures and booklets on onion for reference.
I am extremely thankful to Dr. Samwel Kakuko Lopoyetum, Senior Post-Doctoral Research Fellow, and place my deep sense of gratitude for moral help, constructive and fruitful ideas in shaping the thesis and also Mr. S. Ramesh, Research Scholar, Department of Lifelong Learning and Extension, Gandhigram Rural University, Gandhigram for his immense and untiring support in the preparation of this work.

I am deeply indebted to my affectionate wife Smt. R. Venkalalakshmi, my son K.P. Arun and daughter Dr. P. Bhagirathi for their sacrificial help, blessings, meticulous care and everlasting encouragement which was the moral booster for me to complete the task successfully.

I owe and heartfelt thanks to late Dr. S. Shanmugam, Research Officer (Rtd.) of Gandhigram Rural Institute-Deemed University, Gandhigram, who has encouraged me for pursuing the Ph.D studies at Gandhigram.

I express my special thanks to my colleagues team Mr. Sathiamoorthy, Mr. Sathishkumar, Mr. Dineshkumar, Mr. Gobi and Miss. Sivajothi of K.R. Agro Farm, Oddanchatram for their willful cooperation, timely assistant in carrying out the survey work successfully.

Finally I thank the Farmers and Friends all who supported and helped me during the Ph.D programme.

(K. Parameswaran)
Research Scholar