

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The duty to acknowledge people arises out of a sense of gratitude. I would like to express my special appreciation and thanks to my supervisor, Dr. Jayati Chatterjee who has patiently guided me to accomplish the work. Her dedication, scholarly advice and meticulous scrutiny have made this thesis possible. I am also thankful to Professor K. C. Baral, Director of the EFL University, Shillong Campus for his continuous encouragement. I am grateful to Dr. T. K. Bamon, Head of the Department of ELT for her insightful remarks. I thank all the faculty members for their support. My special thanks go to Mr. B. Datta and the office staff for their cooperation. It is a pleasure to thank Ms. Theresa Dkhar, who rendered continuous assistance at the library. I am also highly indebted to my Ph.D classmates and friends for giving me moral support and valuable inputs. A special thanks to my family. Words cannot express how grateful I am to Abba and Amma, Baba and Maa (my in-laws), Sazzadur Rahman (my younger brother), Gulam Ommar Ahmed (my brother-in-law) and Numeja Ba, all of them have been a constant source of inspiration. Your prayers for me have sustained me so far. I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to my husband who spent sleepless nights helping me and always supported me in the moments of doubts. Finally, I wish to thank all the respondents of my study, without whose valuable feedback, this work would not have been possible.
