Acknowledgement

I take this opportunity, with great pleasure to express my gratitude to my guide, colleagues, friends and all the people who have helped and inspired me during my PhD studies.

First of all, I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to my guide and mentor Prof. S. D. Dhole, Department of Physics, University of Pune, for his supervision, advice, guidance and motivation from the very early stage of this course, above all and most importantly, the constant encouragement and support provided by him in various ways. His guidance helped me throughout the course and in writing this thesis. Without him, it would not have been possible to complete this work. I could not have imagined having a better guide and mentor for my PhD studies.

I specially want to thank Prof. V. N. Bhoraskar, Distinguished Professor, SPPU, for his guidance and advice during my course and study at this Department. His perpetual energy and enthusiasm in research had motivated all lab members, including me. His presence in the lab itself motivates the students. He was always accessible and willing to help students with his experienced and expertise. I am proud to acknowledge here, that I have worked with an exceptionally experienced experimentalist like him. Besides, he has set a role model of a typical Indian teacher who cares and loves his students as if they were his own children.

I was delighted to interact with Prof. (Mrs.) S. V. Bhoraskar and Dr. S. S. Dahiwale as both of them have been a constant source of encouragement for all of us.

I would like to thank former and present Head, Department of Physics, SPPU, for providing me all the available departmental facilities. I am pleased to mention here that, Prof. Suresh Gosavi, Prof. S. I. Patil, Prof. Mahendra More, Prof. Sandesh Jadkar and Prof. S. K. Haram (Chemistry Dept.) were always ready to offer all sort of help as faculty members.

Thanks are also due to Dr. Bhushan Patil, Dr. Santosh Mahapatra, Dr. K. A. Bogle, Dr. N. T. Mandlik, Dr. K. B. Sapnar, Dr. F. M. D. Attar, Dr. V. R. Kulkarni, Dr. Pankaj Koinkar, Dr. Ninad Shinde. They helped me to make significant decisions at every stage of this course.
All my labmates at Microtron Accelerator Lab made it a convivial place to work. I thank Dr. K. Hareesh, Dr. M. S. Barough, Dr. R. P. Joshi, Dr. Vikas Mulik, Shahzad, Mahesh, Vishal, Ambadas, Ashish, Kishor, Karan, Hitesh, Ashish, Vishnu, Gaurav, Selwyn, Bhakti and Sneha for their continuous help and for all the fun we have had during my stay in Pune.

I would like to extend my thanks to Dr. Padmakar, Dr. Sandip, Dr. Ranjit, Dr. Deodatta, Dr. Sadhu, Dr. Ashok, Dr. Chinmay, Dr. Kiran, Dr. Shateesh (Chemistry Dept.) and Dr. Ashok Bankar (Garware College) for their constant help and friendship.

I am thankful to Dr. D. Kanjilal and staff the scientific staff of the IUAC, New Delhi for providing all the facilities for ion beam irradiation. I thank Dr. D. M. Phase, UGC DAE CSR, Indore for their help in synchrotron X-ray experiments and other measurements. I am also thankful to Prof. J. F. Williams, University of Western Australia for PALS studies. I would like to express my gratitude towards Mr. Shinde, Mr. Lolage during characterization of samples. The administrative, non teaching staff of Department and University Workshop employees has always been a great help as usual.

My deepest gratitude goes to my family for their unflagging love and countless support throughout my life; this dissertation is simply impossible without them. I am indebted to my father for his care and love. He never complained in spite of all the hardships in his life. I cannot ask for more from my mother, as she is simply ideal. I have no suitable word that can fully describe her endless love to me. I thank Anant, Jayashree, my elder sisters and brothers in law for innumerable support, motivation and encouragement at every stage of my life. My special appreciation goes to my wife Rutambara, who kept me away from the family responsibilities and motivated me for the completion of the degree. Special lovable thanks to nephews, nieces and my son Atharv.

I offer my regards and blessings to all those who supported me in any respect during the completion of the project.

-Avinash