SELECT

BIBLIOGRAPHY
SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY

Primary Sources

(A) Novels

-------------------------

-------------------------

-------------------------

-------------------------

-------------------------

-------------------------

-------------------------

(B) Short Stories

------------------------

(C) Non-Fiction

(D) Literary Essays

------------------------

------------------------

(E) Co-Authorship

(i) With Clark Blaise:

--------------------

(ii) With Robert Boyers:

Secondary Sources

(A) Critical Studies/Periodicals on Diaspora Writing on Bharati Mukherjee

------------------- Commonwealth Writing: A Study in Expatriate Experience, New Delhi: Prestige, 1994, p.50

Deane, Seamus, ed. Nationalism, Colonialism and Literature. Minneapolis:

________ “From Expatriation to Immigration: The Quest of Bharati Mukherjee with Special Reference to Darkness,” in Ramamurti,

---------- The Writers of Indian Diaspora, Rawat Publication, Jaipur, 2003, p.11

------------------------ The Fiction of Bharati Mukherjee: A Cultural Perspective, New Delhi, Prestige Books, 2000, p-20

McLead, A.L. (ed.). The Literature of the Indian Diaspora: Essays in 65-76.

_________ (ed.). Writers of the Indian Diaspora: A Biographical Sourcebook.

Padma, T. “From Acculturation to Self-Actualisation: Diasporal Dream in Bharati Mukherjee’s Jasmine,” in Dhawan, R.K. et al., eds., Commonwealth Writing, pp. 77-85.

_______ “Othering the Academy: Professionalism and Multiculturalism,” Social Search

“Poststructuralism, Marginality, Postcoloniality and Value,” Collier Geyer-Ryan, 219-44.

(A) Internet Sources

- http://www2.gwu.edu/~asi/Articles/37-2-7-pdf
- http://www.o.bbc.co.uk/worldwideservice/arts/features/womenwriters/mukherjee—style.shtml
- http://www.bookreporter.com/au.mukherjee.asp. Referred as BRC
- http://www.powellbooks.com/authors/mukherjee.home. Referred as Powell