

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The study could not have been conducted and completed without the genuine assistance and immeasurable contribution of the people who supported me. To them this acknowledgement is due:

To Dr. D K Chauhan (Director Technical, Centre for Research studies, Noida International University) and Dr. Shravani Misra (HOD, School of Business Management, Noida International University), whose scholarly ideas gave me guidance for formulation of the study and accomplishment of this research work.

To Dr. Shruti Singh (Assistant Professor, Noida International University), my guide and supervisor, who has been unselfishly exerting efforts in sending email notes to me whenever I had queries. She has always been willing to share ideas and contribute valuable inputs for accomplishment of this research work.

To the staff members of Centre for Research Studies, who provided the desired support at all times that definitely facilitated the research.

To all my course mates and colleagues, who willingly and untiringly shared their time, efforts and views that served as valuable inputs for formulation of the questionnaires, suggesting future role prospects for women and giving out recommendations.

To my family, whose infinite love and immeasurable support has encouraged me to finish this very challenging task.

Most of all, to Almighty God, the source of knowledge and wisdom, and whose guidance and bountiful graces have enabled me to overcome the challenges and endure the hardships and trials encountered during the research.
