ACKNOWLEDGMENT

This thesis is the culmination of my journey of Ph.D. which was just like climbing on a high peak step by step accompanied with encouragement, hardship, trust, and frustration. When I found myself at top experiencing the feeling of fulfillment, I realized though only my name appears on the cover of this thesis, a great many people including my family members, well-wishers, my friends, colleagues and various institutions have contributed to accomplish this huge task.

At this ecstatic time of presenting my thesis, I find myself unable to elucidate in words my genial feelings of indebtedness and unfeigned gratefulness to my supervisor, Dr. Birpal Singh Thenua, Assistant Professor (Sociology), Department of Sociology & Political Science who evinced a keen interest in my work, went through the whole manuscripts several times and suggested numerous improvements. I need not hesitate to admit that without his constant help, encouragement and valuable guidance; this thesis could never have been written. For his constructive and ever available guidance, incessant inspiration and valuable suggestions at all the stages of this research. I find myself highly fortunate and gratefully privileged to have worked under his supervision. This feat was possible only because of the unconditional support provided by Sir. A person with an amicable and positive disposition, Sir has always made himself available to clarify my doubts despite his busy schedules. Thank you Sir, for all your help and support. His enlightening storehouse of vast knowledge, farsightedness, eloquence and above all mastery over the subject inspired me throughout my way to complete this challenging task.

I would like to place on record my gratitude and thanks to Prof. Poornima Jain, Head of the Department of Sociology and Political Science, Faculty of Social Sciences, Dayalbagh Educational Institute, Dayalbagh, Agra, for her timely advices and constant encouragement. She examined the study at various stores and gave valuable comments for the betterment of my field work. Her advices and guidance from the very early stage of this research as well as giving me extraordinary experiences through the work with her immense patience and knowledge.
I am also thankful to faculty members of the Department of Sociology & Political Science – Prof. Bandna Gaur, Dr. Lajwant Singh, Dr. Anju Sharma, Dr. Anjali Seth and other teaching and non-teaching staff of Department of Sociology and Political Science, Dayalbagh Educational Institute, Dayalbagh, Agra, for their kind cooperation and generous support.

I am also thankful to all staff of the Central Library, Dayalbagh Educational Institute, Dayalbagh Agra, for their generous help extended directly and indirectly from time to time, related to their respective job pursuit. Special thanks to Mange Ram sir, P.D. Sharma sir, B.P. sir and Gurdayal sir.

I am also very thankful to my Respondents of Slums colonies of Agra, who have furnished me information on various aspects pertaining to my investigation.

The present research would not have been possible but for the sacrifices made by and encouragement received from my family. I am deeply grateful to my parents (Mr. Murari Lal Agarwal and Smt. Rajani Agarwal) for all their love and encouragement. Salute you all for the selfless love, care, pain and sacrifice you did to shape my life. Although you hardly understood what I researched on, you were willing to support any decision I made. I would never be able to pay back the love and affection showered upon by my parents. Thank you both for giving me strength to reach for the stars and chase my dreams. My father’s enquiries and encouragement a short interest and curiosity in the development of my work and my mother always encourage me. Without her continuous support and encouragement, I never would have been able to achieve my goals.

My brothers’ (Gaurav, Ankur, and Ashish) helped too in all respects cannot be forgotten. Who raised me with a love for humanities and supported me in all my pursuits. They are the reason I did this. They are the reason I thrive to be better.

I owe thanks to my husband, Sachin Bansal for his continued and unfailing support and understanding during my pursuit of PhD degree that made the completion of thesis possible. He was always around at times I thought that it is impossible to continue, he helped me to keep things in perspective. I greatly value his contribution and deeply appreciate his belief in me.
To my friends (Rachna Yadav, Charumitra Anand and Shalini Rajput), thank you for your understanding and encouragement in my many, many moments of crisis. Your friendship makes my life a wonderful experience.

Finally, I would like to thank everybody who was important to the successful realization of my thesis.

Harshita Agarwal
Research Scholar
Dept. of Sociology & Political Science
Faculty of Social Sciences
DEI, Dayalbagh, Agra