ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is indeed a great pleasure and privilege to acknowledge all those who have helped me to complete my thesis, which at the beginning, appeared impossible but their helping hands have made it possible for me to complete this humble work.

First of all, I express my profound gratitude and indebtedness to my respected teacher and supervisor at Gauhati University, Professor Monirul Hussain, who inspired and nurtured this study from the very beginning. Besides keen interest and relentless quest for a comprehensive understanding of the subject, his constant help, careful guidance and valuable suggestions enabled me to overcome various difficulties and to complete my thesis. This study has been possible solely because of his support and supervision.

I am also highly indebted to all my respected teachers of Department of Political Science, Gauhati University for their encouraging words and valuable suggestions.

I also acknowledge my cordial gratitude to Dr. Sarat Borkataki, Principal of Nowgong College, Nagaon for his constant help and inspirations to complete my work.

My special thanks also goes to Dr. Ranjit Kr. Mazinder, Dr. Monoj Kr Nath, Dr. Lilawati Das, and Debasish Nath from the Department of Political Science, Nowgong College, who were kind enough to spare their time to discuss with my material and offer valuable advice.

I am indebted to numerous people, organizations, officers and institutions that helped me with data, information and suggestions on matters relating to my research. In this regard, special mention may be made of Dr. Rejaul Karim, a noted writer, Dr. Barnali

My special thanks are due to the Librarians and the staff concerned of the following libraries who were extremely helpful to me in accessing of research materials, MND Library, Nowgong College, Nagaon; K.K. Handiqui Library, Gauhati University; Omeo Kumar Das Institute of Social Change and Development Library, Guwahati and Central Library of the North Eastern Hill University, Shillong.

I express my deep appreciation and thankfulness to my Father Late Lihi Ram Bora and my mother Mahindra Bora without whose constant inspiration the completion of the work may have been an unachievable goal. Special thanks to my sisters Bina and Devajani, cousin Lipsikha, brother in law Munindra Bora, my daughter Priyadarshini and my in-laws for standing by me as always.

My greatest debt is to my husband, Dr. Pranab Kr. Bordoloi without whom none of this would have been possible.

And, most of all, my sincere appreciation and sincere thanks to the people of Nagabandha and all other villages that I visited off and on in the last six years who had taken pains to answer my questions or permitted interviews to me.
