

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost I acknowledge my sincere gratitude and profound indebtedness to my supervisor, Prof Mani Meitei, Dean of Humanities, Manipur University, for his priceless guidance and precious involvement in the groundwork of my thesis from its conceptualization to its final stage. I am grateful for his supervision and patience, his constructive advice, and his extensive support. Without his true scholasticism, this thesis would not have been possible. His penetrative insight into the minute details has motivated me to work more towards the final result. It is because of his blood, sweat and tears that constantly push me to accomplish this impossible feat. Through him, I have learned that a handful of patience is worth more than a bushel of brains. I am also indebted to Prof S. Sanatombi, Department of Manipuri, Manipur University for her moral support and for introducing me to pedagogic activities which mould me as a person as well as a scholar.

I should not fail to express my sincere gratitude to W. Ibempishak Devi, Retd. Chairperson, Board of Higher Secondary Education, Manipur, for supervising me in the initial stage of my research.

I am thankful to the University Grants Commission (UGC) for granting me the Junior Research Fellowship as financial support without which it is not feasible for me to continue my research work.

I am grateful to all the faculty members of Department of English for helping me in one way or another towards the completion of my thesis.

I convey my sincere gratitude to the Vice Chancellor, Manipur University, Prof H. Nandakumar Sharma for having been kind enough by giving me an extension of the period of my research.

I am highly indebted to Delhi University, Jawaharlal Nehru University, and Manipur University for their kind permission to use the facilities available in their libraries. I am thankful to Phurailatpam Shantikumar Sharma for binding my thesis. I am also thankful to Sagolsem Roshnikumar Mangang, Computer Operator, Sunil Infosys, M.U. Campus for the final print out.

I would like to express my deepest gratitude to my father (Phurailatpam Iboyaima Sharma) for his valuable guidance, his never-ending support, and encouragement who always teaches me to fight tooth and nail to achieve my dream. I show my utmost appreciation to Echema (Ratnajyoti, my eldest sister-in-law) for tolerating me silently without any complaint so that I could complete my thesis without any impediment. I am indebted to my brothers (Laxmikanta, Gokulchandra, Sanamacha, and Krishnagopal) and my cousin (Nandakumar) for their endless support.

Last but not least, I am thankful to L. Malem Mangal who has been motivating me relentlessly in my tough times. I am thankful to Dr. Oinam Kamala for letting me stay in the JNU hostel while collecting the materials for my research. All my love goes to my group of friends – Ranibala (for her unwavering support), Mrinalini, Pushpa, Anita, Guneshwor, and many others whose names I have not included but are always in my prayer.
